FREEMAN ALONE FAVORS REDISTRICTING

(Special to The Bulletin.)
Washington, D. C., Feb. 2.—Much interest is expressed here by congressmen from all parts of the country as to what action Congress will take regarding redistricting the states so as to provide for the six congressmen to be elected hereafter. Two courses are open, either to redistrict or to elect a congressman at large. By far the greater number of people here advocate the latter method. Visitors from that state and views of members of the congressional delegation point all one way and that is to delegate at large until normal conditions are restored in the country and states recover from the decrease or increase of population incident to the shifting of war workers from one part of the country to another.

Senator Brandegee said today "The interests of the state would be far better served at present by the election of a congressman at large, rather than break into existing districts." He called attention to the fact that the state had failed to register, and said the vote of last fall did not in any way indicate the total vote of any district in normal times after the woman vote was finally cast.

POETRY

A FLEA TO TIME.
O Time, why art so fleeting?
Oh, Time, why art so fleeting?
So full of glances hours
And of life's cheering rays?
I cannot rest if I lose thee
All fond fond memories
Days full of quiet musing
And happy reverie.
But Time, I count the Present
Than memory dearer far;
For 'tis the best thing I know
And days that come no more.

THE DREAM-TOWN SHOW

There is an island in Slumber Sea
Where the dreamland things are done,
And there will sail there if the winds are fair
Just after the rest of the sun
The best place in the whole wide world.
Or anywhere, so it seems.
I can feel the play at the end of each day
In a curious show called Dreams.
